Students have the choice to undertake at least 1 or at most 2 activities out of 4 which they need to perform for their assessment in this VAC.

Make teams of maximum 2 students only who will undertake the activities in a group and will perform the field trip. Every member of the team needs to participate in this. Marks will not be given to those who do not participate in their respective teams. The team will prepare a PowerPoint presentation of around 5-6 slides demonstrating their activity, the methodology used, findings achieved and other details of their visit. The group will also make an oral presentation as per this visit and will present it to the entire classroom. Add your own pictures clicked at the location. Explain why you chose that location, any significant happening or observation as you went there, cultural importance of the place, background of the place, current state of the monument/ site/ institution, unique features, and relevance in present day scenario. These things need to be briefly mentioned in your presentations. Time duration for the presentation should be 4-5 minutes. Now, make a short video documentary to show some the interviews from the visit. And that video should be a part of your overall presentation which your team will present to the class. Maximum duration of the video will be 7-8 minutes.

Your video must be of professional level. Ensure subtitles wherever the answers given by respondents are not clear. Ensure clarity of audio. Edit your video decently as marks will be allotted based on this as well. Make your video aesthetically pleasing.

The options from which students are required to select are -

Option 1)

Visit an old age home or a blind school, or both. Meet 8-10 elderly people or differently abled people and make a survey of the place. You can also take interview of the owner or the authority of the institution. Some of the information(s) which you may gather are -

a) quality of life of the inhabitants

b) facilities available in that institution

c) welfare practices of the institution

d) satisfaction level of people with their life

e) interaction with the next generation for transmission of cultural values

f) future goals of the people or future of the institution

g) any observations you noted in the process? how were you received by the authorities and other people?

h) any other cultural information

Add your own pictures (preferably GPS tagged) clicked at the location. Explain why you chose this theme and the subject (institution or locality) of this project. Take interviews of at least 8-10 people and include it in your project report. Make detailed notes and report of your visit. Questionnaires to be prepared on your own. PPT needs to be made which will then be presented to the class later on.

Option 2)

Foreign Students at DU

Take interview of foreign students studying at HRC or any other college of DU. You can also try to contact some students living in the hostels designated specially for foreign students in DU. You can also take interview of foreign students from any department at the University pursuing MA, Ph.D. etc.

Try to research on and understand the culture at University of Delhi, and at their college. Try to understand their experiences of living in Delhi and what they think of the culture of this country and this city. Ask them what people of their country think of DU.

Ask them about any cultural shocks they felt here. Ask about hostel facilities (if they are using). Ask them why they chose only DU to study? Ask them about the reasons for pursuing a degree from DU. Ask them what they love the most about DU. Ask them about their first impression upon coming to DU and their college. Also ask what DU does better than other universities in their country. Ask them about FSR Office, DU & its functioning.

Ask their experiences and the change in culture that they have noticed in New Delhi & in DU. Survey about the best things they like in DU and how DU has contributed to their academic development.

Questionnaires are to be prepared yourself and the sole effort of the exercise should be to delve into the cultural differences, cultural changes, expectations, etc that the outstation/ foreign students are living with. This exercise should be aimed to get a better understanding of the cultural diversity of University of Delhi.

Option 3)

Visit the following monuments (at least 1 or at most 2) of national/ cultural/ political significance -

a) Rashtrapati Bhawan Sangrahalaya. Make list of reforms in India that happened under various Presidents. You can even visit Amrit Udyan at the venue. You can even make a PPT on the tenure of any President (not the President themselves, but on the timeline) of India which you may have learnt from your visit. Find unique highlights and features of the Sangrahalaya and make detailed PPT on it. Make summaries of your visit. And whatever you observe, learnt and felt when you visited. List down pros and cons also about your visit. Take interviews, preferably from youngsters and foreigners, if any.

Add your own pictures (preferably GPS tagged) clicked at the location. Explain why you chose this theme and the subject of this project. Take interviews of at least 8-10 people and include it in your project report. Try to interview people from diverse social backgrounds. Make detailed notes and report of your visit. Questionnaires to be prepared on your own. PPT needs to be made which will then be presented to the class later on.

b) Majnu ka Tilla Monastery & Market. Research on the history of MKT as a settlement colony. Make detailed PPTs on the monasteries there and food habits, culture, ethnicity, nationality of various groups living there. Research on Tibetan settlement since 1950s who are still living there. Your research should be based on interviews that you conduct with the people there and not just taken from the internet. Find specialities about this place and the famous market area. Try to find answers on how the culture of MKT has been assimilated into Indian culture and vice versa. How have they assimilated our culture with them? Also, research on the latest court verdict about MKT which is in news nowadays and ask people about their opinion on that.

Add your own pictures (preferably GPS tagged) clicked at the location. Explain why you chose this theme and the subject of this project. Take interviews of at least 8-10 people and include it in your project report. Try to interview people from diverse social backgrounds. Make detailed notes and report of your visit. Questionnaires to be prepared on your own. PPT needs to be made which will then be presented to the class later on.

NOTE:

Questionnaires/ interviews/ surveys should aim for the following –

- historical underpinnings
- cultural underpinnings
- to understand the reasons behind preferences and answers given by the respondents that you have interviewed
- visitor insights
- why your visit was successful?
- key learnings
- to understand the transmutation of cultural values
- to understand what they think about the culture of India/ Bharat and their observations, experiences, or anything else of cultural interest and significance
